What's In a Name?

ORTHODOX:

Holding to correct religious doctrine.

REFORMED CHURCH:

A church that has accepted the principles of the Protestant Reformation, as expressed in the Reformed confessions. Reformed churches are sometimes called Calvinistic churches.

What To Expect

- Reverent, God-centered worship
- Reading and preaching from the whole Bible
- Constant proclamation of Christ, the only Savior, crucified and risen from the dead
- Practical and experiential application of all God's Word to all of life
- Congregational singing of Psalms and traditional hymns

A New Beginning

Our congregation was formed in 1989 with the leadership of a minister and former elders of other Edmonton churches. The need to form a new church was due to the fact that these other churches had for several years been departing from the authority of the Bible and from their own historic creeds and confessions.

This departure became especially evident in the influence which evolutionary science, humanistic psychology and feminism was having on the teaching and practices of these churches. Critical results were seen in a breakdown of biblical worship, preaching, and church discipline. After years of protest, prayer and efforts for reform, it became clear that obedience to God required the formation of a new church.

Keeping The Faith

The ORC was formed to maintain loyalty to what was old, reliable and unchanging: the Word of God (the Bible). The truth of the unchanging Word has been confessed and lived by the true Christian church down through the centuries. It is our solemn desire and purpose to confess and live that same truth and to stand with all others who share this commitment.
